

Well, have I told you that I love you
in ways you'd never forget.
I don't care if you refuse me.
All I care is if you believe me.
Because I never meant to hurt you.
& I never meant to lie.
If I could be as strong as you seem,
I'd never have to ask why.

If I could just be w/you,
I wouldn't have to cry.
But Fate has abused me almost as much as I've abused myself.

I've crossed the universe to find you.
& I've waited a million years.
I lost it all very easily,
choking on my childhood-fears.

Please forgive my weakness.
Success has never been my charm.
But in the face of adversity,
I've never been at harm.

Cursed by blessed loneliness.
Being that it's my oldest friend.
But loneliness is a jealous fool.
Seeing love as a threat.

Yeah, so whatever.